Dear Sir,

I am very happy to put on record the feelings of the students not only of the University but also those whom I met during the National Youth Festival held at Kalyani University, Nadia, Dist. West Bengal.

The energetic Young India that we saw in Kalyani who has dedicated themselves to the rising India had dreams of future that they would make a difference to the world some day.

The students of the University of Mumbai who have been participating since last 28 years tell story of success, but they often tell that these stories of success are because of the hardwork they did when they participated in the Unifest. A True Festival of India where every part of the country is linked with a common purpose of fraturity and solidarity.

The festival at Kalyani was also one such experience which brought all of us together to witness colorful India. It was a true national integration where the students made new friends and people will cherish these memories for years to come.

Yours sincerely,

(Dr. Mrudul Nile)
