MESSAGE

It gives me great pleasure to learn that the Research division of the Association of Indian Universities (AIU) as part of its research activities, has successfully brought out its much-anticipated annual publication – “India Higher Education Profile: 2019-20”.

Data allows organizations to increase the efficiency of a given strategy. When strategies are put in place to overcome a challenge, collecting data will help to determine how well a solution is performing, and whether the approach needs to be tweaked or changed in the long term.

Data is a key component in systems advocacy. Utilizing data helps present a strong argument for systems change. Moreover, data allows to replicate areas of strength across an organization and to identify high performing programmes, people, and service areas.

I am confident that the Profile will be a resourceful ‘Data Bank’ for Policy Makers and Educational Administrators of both the Government and Educational Institutions of India, besides Researchers.

I congratulate the AIU team for their hard work and dedication in bringing out this publication for the benefit of all stakeholders of Higher Education in India.

MESSAGE

As Indians, we are used to passing judgments without sound information. It is true in case of the state of higher education also.

Therefore, I see it as a very useful initiative by AIU to have decided to bring out consolidated information on the state of states in higher education. Parameters included for data comparison will enable users both, academic institutions and policy makers, design strategies to improve their performance and standing. I am sure, the stakeholders are going to appreciate this country-wide information on higher education.

My appreciation of those staff of AIU who have planned and worked on this publication.

FOREWORD

The modern education system of the present era essentially requires robust database systems for creation, dissemination and application of knowledge to the society and its welfare. The database and profile of higher education institutions serve as foundation for policy formulation and guides the academic members and other stakeholders to make informed decisions about Indian higher education system. During last few decades the higher education system of India has witnessed enormous expansion. The expansion has taken place in terms of number of institutions, providing wider access to the students, emerging new areas of studies in the form of micro disciplines, introduction of new pedagogy, modern curricula and new examination system, etc. At present, India harbours the third largest higher education system in the world next to USA and China.

Managing such a massive system certainly requires a consolidated information base. Association of Indian Universities as an apex level representative body of universities and other higher education system in the country is mandated to undertake research studies and prepare database system for providing research-based policy inputs to the policy makers. It maintains database on various aspects of higher education for the purpose.

India Higher Education Profile for the year 2019-20 brought out by AIU is based on the data from All India Survey on Higher Education (AISHE) and the status of accreditation & grading of NAAC. The objective of this report is to provide the readers a comprehensive repository of information on higher education sector in a concise and precise manner for easy understanding and comprehension. While the first part of the report is dedicated to information on pan India, the subsequent chapters present the States/UTs-level data through tabular, pictorial and graphical depictions.

The report depicts education structure, demographic profile, level and gender wise enrolments, number teachers both male and female, pupil teacher ratio, accreditation and grading/ranking status of the institutions, hostel accommodation capacities, etc. I am sure the report will serve as a ready reckoner for the stakeholders of higher education.

I am grateful to AISHE, NIRF and NAAC for providing the relevant data for preparation of this report. I acknowledge the contribution of our Research Division, especially Dr. Amarendra Pani, Joint Director and Head Research Division, AIU for his continuous supervision in completing the project within a short span of time. I also express thanks to Dr Sandeep Mishra, SRA for capturing the data from various sources and preparing the consolidated document.

PREFACE

Statistical profile of the higher education has always been proved to be a guiding force for the academic fraternity, especially for the researchers to carrying forward their research work and policy makers for postulating the policy foundations. A comprehensive repository of information also becomes handy and useful for other stakeholders of higher education to take up various academic and administrative related exercises. Therefore, a structured and consolidated statistical profile of institutions, their accreditation, status, enrolment of students, teachers, etc. has always been of high demand by the stakeholders. The Ministry of Human Resource Development, Govt of India launched the All-India Survey of Higher Education in 2010- 11 for this purpose which today serves a great need of the researchers and other academic practitioners. The AISHE report brought out every year by the Ministry of Education has been very useful not only in providing a glimpse of the statistical profile of the institutions, but also analysing its various domains.

Association of Indian Universities as an academic think tank body has always been of assistance to the government in devising the policies of higher education by providing research-based policy inputs. As one of its mandated activities, it was maintaining a data base on various aspects of higher education in the country. This activity was discontinued a few years back and only the broad information such as number of universities, their status as public private, student enrolment, etc. were being captured for the purpose of advancing the institutions activities. With the objective of resuming the database activities of AIU the present volume has been planned.

The volume on India Higher Education Profile 2020 brought out by AIU includes state wise statistical profile of higher education in two broad segments i.e demographic and academic information. In crisply designed graphical presentations and charts the report provides a glance of higher education structure, demographic profile such as population, literacy rate, projected population and the educational profile like, number of universities and colleges, their accreditation status, grading and ranking of the institutions, level and gender wise enrolments in higher education, gross enrolment ratio, level and gender wise number of teachers, gender parity ratio, pupil teacher ratio, intake capacity, foreign student enrolment, etc in a consolidated manner.

The statistical information on all these above aspects has been compiled from a diversified source such as the report of All India Survey of Higher Education (AISHE), National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF), National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC), University Grants Commissions and a few other reports of Govt of India. It gives a fast look of the education scenario of the country, both for pan India and for the States. The report is expected to be useful for the readers in developing a comparative perspective on educational scenario of the states, union territories with that of other states and the whole country too. We are sure that the repository of information will be of enormous use for the researchers, policy planners, academic practitioners, publishers, and the higher education leaders who are at the helm of managing the higher education system of the country.
